Democracy of Science. BY JOSIAH HOLBROOK. No. 1.

WASHINGTON, May 14, 1852.

Consolidation and diffusion are two operations distinct and opposite. Both are witnessed in wealth, government, religion, knowledge, and nearly every thing human. However applied, the one is despotic and the other democratic. The nature of man and the progress of society tend to consolidation at the expense of diffusion. The spirit of republicanism is to promote diffusion and put checks upon consolidation; and that, too, as connected with all the leading interests of Democracy of science is the subject now under view. The true democracy of science is "TO IN-CREASE AND DIFFUSE KNOWLEDGE AMONG MEN"the design of Smithson. This is also not only a great but the great object of national and State policy—not to consolidate but diffuse knowledge; and knowledge interesting to all, especially farmers and mechanics, as they constitute more than seven-eighths of all civilized communi-

The development and the application of the natural resources of our country stand first and foremost in furnishing that kind of knowledge interesting to all. It shows possessions and the modes of using them—strictly the "USE OF TAL-ENTS." But with development and application there may be diffusion; there may also be consolidation. It is one thing to have our mineral resources developed, and a knowledge of them so diffused that every farmer may know the character and capabilities of his own fields. It is quite another thing to have our country subjected to another thing to have our country subjected to scientific explorations, however full and complete, and the results placed in ponderous volumes, and those volumes confined to the shelves of college and State libraries, to be little read and less understood. The one is diffusion, the other consolidation. The one is carrying out the purposes solidation. The one is carrying out the purposes of scientific explorations, and applying the knowledge obtained by them for the benefit of those who need it, and those who paid for it; the other is evidently a perversion of funds designed for diffusive knowledge, wealth, morals, and power, to personal pride and individual aggrandizement. The one tends to democracy, the other to despot-

As the spirit of the age is the democracy of science—the diffusion, not the consolidation of knowledge—an attempt will be made to point out several subjects of science, with such plans and modes of promoting them as will tend to bring knowledge to every man's door, and to give to it free access by every farmer's son and every mechanic's daughter. As the schools of our country constitute or ought to constitute not a "national university," but a "UNIVERSITY OF THE NATION," special endeavors will be made to present such subjects, plans, and modes as will id in training the young beings composing them for success in their future vocations; to put them on the track of "PRACTICAL SCIENCE, PRO-DUCTIVE INDUSTRY, AND CHRISTIAN MORALS.

"There they lie," we are told, "in huge stone sarcophagi, with ponderous lids, just as they were deposited more than 3,000 years ago."

On Friday, the 7th instant, a post mortem examination was held by Dr. Parkhurst on the body of the widow of Amos Eddy, in the town of Frankfort, Herkimer county, aged 77 years, and, to the utter astoniehment of all present, a full-grown child was found, which she had carried for the term of forty-six years. It was cased in a sort of bony or cartilaginous structure, except one leg, and one foot, and one elbow, which were almost entirely ossified. The facts and circumstances of the above case will be published at full length in the different medical journals as soon as Dr. P. finds leisure to put together the history—of which he has extensive notes that he has kept for the last twelve years, as well as of her life before and after marriage, which took place fifty-two years ago.—Utica Observer.

Protection from Lightning.

Protection from Lightning.

THE undersigned, being the duly appointed Agent of Spratt's Electrican and Electro-Metallusous Learning and Color of Spratt's Electrocan and Electro-Doslive learning and these uperior Rods, of Spiral-wisted, Carbonized Amended Iron, with Zine Protectors, and Electro-Doslive elements combined in their manufacture; thus rendering them equal to copper as conductors. They are in ten-feet lengths, with accurately-fitted brass-screw connecting joints, an entire new style of metallic (patented) attachments, for brick or frame buildings; also, glass isolators, of a novel and ingenious construction, patented-4 forming a lock; the whole mounted with a solid platinum silver point, (patented) twelve inches long, surrounded at the base with three angular negative magnets, which possess the power, to an extraordinary extent, of discharging the opposite elements of the most fearful thunderstorm, and embrace the entire perfection of science up to the present time; the whole constituting the most magnificent and perfect silent conductor ever presented to the public.

Safety has not been compromised by affording these excellent rods at such low rates; the greatest attention has been given to their construction, so as to be readily attached. The astonishing power of the negative magnets, in discharging the air of its opposite elements, has been clearly demonstrated by the Electrometer, when unmagnetized points have shown but alight results, though placed under the same conditions. In fact, they gather and silently discharge electricity from the atmosphere when you would scarcely suspect any being present.

These improvements being secured by double letters pateut, you are hereby cautioned against laying yourselves liable, by purchasing of those who are not authorized, or who are substituting inferior imitations. All agents duly appointed can show their certificates. Have good rods or none.

CHARLES W. HEYDON,
Washington City.

I do hereby certify that I have app lied various powerful chemical re-agents to Spratt's Patent Points for Lightning-Rods, and that the results of these experiments convince me that they will resist the action of atmospheric causes, and thereby preserve the extremity sharp—a condition most essential to protection against lightning. The re-agents used in the above experiments were a solution of chloride of sodium, (common salt.) acetic acid, sulphuric acid, and hydrochloric acid. With the first, there was no action on the metal; with the several acids, there was very slight—a fact sufficient to show that atmospheric influences would have no sensible effect.

JOHN LECONTE, Prof. of Nat. Phfl. et Chem.

The Lightning Conductors of Mr. Spratt, offered to me, are well calculated to perform the office for which they are intended. Yours, truly.

Prof. MoBT. PETER.

LEXINGTON, KY., February 20, 1850.

CHICAGO, September 3, 1850.

This may certify that I have examined, somewhat critically, James Spratt's Patent Lightning Rods, and that I am of opinion that it is constructed on scientific principles. For combining durability, cheapness, and efficacy, I deem it equal, and I think superior, to any other rod ever offered for my inspection.

Prof. JAS. V. Z. BLANEY.

AUGUSTA, (GA.) November 11, 1850.

This will certify that I have examined the Lightning Rods, Metallic Points, and Isolating Attachments, manufactured by Mr. Spratt, and regard them as constructed in conformity to the general laws of the electric fluid; and the metallic compound constituting the Points, as promising, from the result of several tests to which they were submitted, to resist for years the action of those atmospheric causes most likely to corrode them.

WILMINGTON BOARDING SCHOOL
FOR BOYS.—This institution is situated in one of the healthiest parts of the city of Wilmington, entirely beyond the settled portions of the town. The uniform healthfulness of the location may be inferred from the fact that, since the establishment of the School, about twenty-eight years, very few cases of serious indisposition have occurred among the pupils, and not a single death either here, or from diseases contracted while here.
The course of instruction includes, besides the ordinary English branches, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, Physiology, History, Rhetoric, the various branches of Mathematics, and the Latin, Greek, and French Languages. Particular attention is paid to the higher Mathematics and their application to Mechanics and Engineering; the latter and Surveying are taught practically by field operations, with the use of appropriate instruments. Lectures on Natural Philosophy and Chemistry, in which all the important principles are illustrated by experiments, are regularly delivered before the students.

As the object is to make the instruction as thorough and practical as possible, no expense has been spared in providing suitable apparatus. It is believed that, in this respect, the Institution will compare favorably with any similar one in the country. A carefully selected library, of more than one thousand volumes, containing works on the various branches of Literature and Science, furnishes ample reading matter; while a Laboratory, fully supplied with apparatus and tests, contains all that is necessary for practical instruction in Chemical Manipulation.

The school year commenced on the third Second-day (Monday) of the Ninth month (September), and is divided into four quarters of eleven weeks each, leaving a vacation of two months, from about the middle of the Seventh month (July).
